Niigaandiwin EDUCATION DEPARTMENT AND LTBB NATURAL Resource Department Establish NME (LAKE STURGEON) TEACHINGS IN AREA SCHOOLS

By Jannan Cotto, Education Director

The LTBB Niigaandiwin Education Department works collaboratively with the LTBB Natural Resource Department on the creation and implementation of the Nme (Lake Sturgeon) Teachings, a culturally-responsive science unit, which has been implemented in science classrooms throughout Emmet County, MI, through several unique partnerships between school districts and the

During the 2014-2015 school year, Nme Teachings was piloted with Pellston's 9th grade Biology class. We were able to expand this program to an additional classroom this school year. Nme Teachings was also implemented in Harbor Springs Public Schools with the 8th grade Great Lakes elective class.

As part of the program, each classroom was given a fall-fingerling Lake Sturgeon at the beginning of the school year as well as a teaching unit comprised of 12 lessons. The unit emphasizes experiential learning with emphasis placed on critical thinking activities, field methodology and native species management, all through an indigenous perspective. All lessons aligned with multiple education standards including the Common Core, C3 and Next Generation Science Standards.

The Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians developed this unit as an important way to reach several of our educational goals including increasing resources for teachers which help them meet recent shifts in educational standards, expanding opportunities for learners to engage with current field practices in the sciences and especially, natural sciences, to increase interest in careers in fisheries management, shift longstanding historical practices which have omitted indigenous people from decision-making power over education and to increase representations of indigenous people, communities, languages, stories and perspectives at the classroom level in ways which are effective and appropriate.

As part of the program, all students participate in a

LTBB's Nine Mile Point Boat Launch Dedicated to the Late John Keshick II

By Annette Van-DeCar, Communications Coordinator

Our tribal fishexercised their treaty fishing rights in a hostile and dangerous environment during the 1970's.

Confrontations with law enforcement and non-Native fishermen were common then as this preceded our victories in federal court and the Consent Agree-

"The 70's were a horrible time," recalled LTBB Tribal Citizen Linda Gokee, whose father, the late John Keshick II was a tribal fisherman. "We were called 'gill netters' and 'dirty Indians.' My family persevered through all of that. He fished during the long, cold night and would come back the next night to see his nets cut and his buoys missing. But, he kept on doing it and provided for his family. I'm proud of the legacy he left to my family and to others."

On June 10, 2016, the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians dedicated the Nine Mile Point Boat Launch to Keshick II. LTBB bought the property on which the boat launch is located with 2000 Consent Agreement funds.

"We fight our battles with a pen and an attorney now, so it's easy to get lackadaisical and forget the battles they fought to protect our treaty fishing rights," LTBB Tribal Citizen Fred Harrington, Jr. said. "They faced imminent danger every time they dropped their nets, and fished at night. People were willing to kill to protect their fish. A common bumper sticker in the 70's read, 'Save a Fish. Spear an Indian."

The dedication ceremony included an introduction by LTBB Tribal Citizen Marie "Tootsie" Miller, Keshick II's sister; an honor song performed by the Spirit Lake drum group; a keynote address by LTBB Tribal Citizen Frank Ettawageshik; words by tribal citizens in attendance; a prayer provided by LTBB Tribal Citizen Joe Mitchell; a feast; and boat rides for the elders provided by the Natural Resource Department.

"He was a warrior who exercised and fought for our

WELCOME TO YOUR ODAWA CASINO MACKINAW, A CLASS II GAMING FACILITY Located in Mackinaw City, MI

By Annette VanDeCar, Communications Coordinator

The Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians opened its second gaming facility, Odawa Casino Mackinaw, on May 25, 2016 in Mackinaw City, MI. After a ribbon cutting event, the doors opened to the public.

The 5,000 square foot Class II gaming facility was constructed in only four months and features 120 slot machines. Hours are noon to 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and noon to midnight on Friday and Saturday.

The opening of the $2.5 million casino is the first phase of a five-year strategic development plan. Next spring, the development of a RV park is planned on the site, and the facility could be expanded next year if it is successful. The construction of a new hotel for Odawa Casino in Petoskey, MI, would start in 2019. By implementing the plan over a five-year period, the tribe is able to finance the plan with its own

On June 18, 2015, Tribal Council voted to approve using funds the tribe had previously set aside for eco-

Being Odawa is all about Freedom

The freedom to be a part of a people, who with integrity and pride, still have and speak our language. The freedom in common with all other Odawak the customs, culture and spirituality of our ancestors. The freedom we have today we will bring to the future through unity, education, justice, communication and planning. We will reach out to the next seven generations by holding to cultural values of Wisdom, Love, Respect, Bravery, Honesty, Humility and Truth. We will utilize our tribal assets to provide the necessary tools to become successful, hard-working community members who proudly represent our culture. With these values we will move the tribe forward.

2016 Michigan Indian Family Olympics

Submitted by the Community Health Department

It is time to dust off those shoes and get your arms ready to take LTBB's strong competitors to the 2016 Michigan Indian Family Olympics (MIFO).

Opening ceremonies begin at 9 a.m. on Friday, July 22, 2016 at Central Michigan University's Bennett Track & Field, located at 1200 S. Franklin Street, Mt. Pleasant, MI 48859. Kindly, plan ahead for the travel time to the MIFO location. Please see the attached flyer for more informa-

LTBB 2016 MIFO team incentives include paid lodging at the Soaring Eagle Waterpark in Mt. Pleasant, MI, on Thursday, July 21, 2016, paid registration fees and a team t-shirt along with breakfast and snacks/ drinks during the Family Olym-

LTBB MIFO team members will be responsible for transportation and expenses prior to and after the event and a hotel deposit of $50 per room for any amenities incurred during the hotel stay.

As in the past, we will need assistance with setting up and tearing down the LTBB team site. All LTBB team members are to help keep the team site clean. Team members should arrive at the field by 9 a.m. to participate in the opening ceremonies, and plan accordingly, so you can participate in at least four events. A copy of the registration form and the schedule of events are attached.

Lodging is provided on a first-come, first-serve basis. Therefore, you will want to reserve your spot(s) as soon as possible. Lodging arrangements can be made until Friday, July 1, 2016 at 12 p.m. unless the allotted rooms are full prior to this date. Registration forms will be accepted beginning Wednesday, June 1, 2016 until Friday, July 1,

Overboard

By Cynthia Sneed, LLMSW

Summer time in Northern Michigan brings the warm sun, swimming, boating, canoeing, bonfires and sunsets to name a few activities people enjoy. Summer can be a time of pleasure, but also a time to be aware of alcohol abuse. Not only do accidents happen which involve alcohol, but an increase in sun exposure heightens the effects of alcohol.

According to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), nearly 1/3 of boating fatalities involve alcohol use. Just like drinking and driving, alcohol and boating don't mix and can lead to accidents of going overboard. Even if the driver of the boat is not drinking, one can go overboard if he or she loses his or her balance. One thing to be aware of is the propeller on the boat. Not only can one fall in, but risk being injured by the propeller. Also, with alcohol use, inhibitions are lower than normal, and the water may not seem as cold as it actually is.

Increase in heat exposure and alcohol have similar effects on the body. The main factor is temperature regulation. With alcohol, one's perception can become distorted, and a person increases their chance of heat stroke. The CDC recommends drinking plenty of fluids during hot weather. Also to be careful of what beverages you choose as drinks with more sugar can increase dehydration, alcohol included. Be cautious of very cold drinks in hot weather because they can cause stomach cramps. Wear appropriate clothing and sunscreen. Discuss with your doctor about heat stroke and the signs to become informed. Protect yourself to enjoy beautiful Northern Michigan.

LTBB Adolescent Program Update

Submitted by Sabrina Spearman, CTAS Grant Coordinator/Therapist

The Youth of Today are our Tomorrow

"Grown men can learn from very little children for the hearts of the little children are pure. Therefore, the Great Spirit may show to them many things which older people miss."

-Black Elk

The adolescent group is growing at a rapid increase. Reflecting back on the previous month, the youth have accomplished tilling up the soil for the medicine garden and have learned about the purpose behind the medicines in the garden. They have also been working on their medicine pouches and have learned how to protect an eagle feather.

In the upcoming month with the adolescent group, we will be learning about and practicing the following assets:

Time at Home: Young person is out with friends "with nothing special to do" two or fewer nights per week.

Midway Review on External Assets: Youth will be educated on the Sweat Lodges, Naming Ceremonies and Vision Quests. Youth who graduate from the program will be given the opportunity to choose one or all upon graduating from the program.

Achievement Motivation: Young person is motivated to do well in school.

The group will also be finishing up and tending the medicine garden, receiving education about the Grandfather of Wisdom and finishing up their medicine pouches and medicine wheels. The youth will be designing with Tony Miron a sign burned into birch wood to signify their accomplishment with the medicine garden.

On July 21 and 22, our adolescent group will be attending the Michigan Indian Family Olympics in Mount Pleasant, MI. They will be representing the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians proudly. The youth have been practicing for the events and are pretty excited to be attending this year.

Please feel free to sign up and get started on building a close tight relationship with the youth in our community. The group is open to adolescents in the age range of 13 to 18. Contact Sabrina Spearman at 231-242-1772 if you are interested in joining all the fun things to come with this program.

EPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

TAX AGREEMENT INFORMATION

reported on future report logs

By Theresa Keshick, Department of Commerce Assistant

The Department of Commerce (DOC) would like to remind the tribal membership about a few items pertaining to the Tax Agreement.

First of all, I cannot express enough how imtant it is to keep vour address updated.

The first step in becoming a Resident Tribal Member (RTM) is to officially change your address with the Enrollment Department. This must be done in writing and as soon as possible.

The DOC cannot and will not change the estimated beginning date (EBD) (which is always the first in any given month) of a member's tax exempt status (see example below).

It is YOUR responsibility to update your address on file with the Enrollment Department. This date will affect how many months you will be able to file the Annual Resident Tribal Member Sales Tax Credit (Tribal Form 4013). It is to your benefit to be able to file for the maximum number of months for this credit. In addition, being an RTM will allow you to purchase large items such as vehicles, boats, motorcycles and off the road vehicles tax exempt. There is a form that needs to be filled out called a "Request for TCE" (Tribal Certificate of Exemption), which is available in my office. Once this form is completely filled out, I will then issue the RTM the actual Tribal Certificate of Exemption (Tribal Form

If you plan on purchasing any of these items, please contact me FIRST, and I will be happy to get you the form via e-mail or fax. I am also able to fax the TCEs to the dealership you are doing business with.

Being an RTM will also allow you to be tax exempt on utility bills such as phone, cable, gas, propane, electricity, satellite and cellular service. If you have not filled out a Utility Provider Survey, please contact the DOC, and I will be happy to get one to

Also, another important thing to remember is if you do move into the Tax Agreement Area (TAA), your RTM status does NOT take effect until the first day of the following month.

Example: I move to Petoskey, MI, (inside the TAA) on September 5, 2010. My RTM (EBD) status begins October 1, 2010. All updates are sent to the State of Michigan as close to the end of the month as possible. The LTBB Tax Agreement is viewable on the

ELDERS DEPARTMENT

Notice Regarding the Elders Dental Service Program

Submitted by Arlene Naganashe, Elders Director

The funds appropriated yearly for the Elders Dental Service Program are limited when you consider there are 1,296 tribal citizens eligible for the program.

A $40,000 budget divided by 1,296 would give each citizen a benefit of about $31. Therefore, with the cost of dental services, the budget can be depleted very quickly as most dental application requests are for more than $31.

As of this date, the dental funds for this year are depleted. I will send individual letters to those who have submitted an application. I will keep the applications on hand in the order they were received, and if money becomes available through budget modifications, those applications will be approved as long as required documentation is received.

I will keep you informed of the dental program fund

EXECUTIVE BRANCH

From the Executive Office

Greetings from the Chairperson's Office.

We have begun our transition into the summer season, and many of you are probably enjoying a great time of pow wow season and a number of summer activities.

Our children are enjoying the tribal summer camp; the staff has lots of fun activities planned for the session.

We completed the Nine Mile Point dock and held the dedication ceremony on June 10, 2016. It is a beautiful addition, and I believe it will help our fisherman exercise their treaty rights.

We completed several items of business.

We are replacing the carpeting at the LTBB Governmental Center in Harbor Springs, MI, so some staff will be in temporary offices for a bit. The Archives and Records expansion is progressing along. We hope to soon have another plan submitted to Tribal Council for approval of the cabin use at the Aldridge property.

I hope to see you at the Odawa Homecoming Pow Wow in August. It is a great time, and a lot of time and energy is spent organizing this event, so I want to say miigwech to Annette Van-DeCar, who heads up the Pow Wow Committee.

Also, a big miigwech to Emily Proctor, who has been the LTBB Annual Community Meeting speaker for the last three years and has handed the community meeting organization off to Daugherty Johnson.

We look forward to a great summer season and continuing forward in a good way.

GRANDFATHER DRUM" A SPECIAL CULTURAL TREASURE

Submitted by Wes Andrews, LTBB NAGPRA Representative

There is a drum of a kind known as a "Grandfather Drum" which is at the New York State Museum in Albany, NY. It originally came from Emmet County, MI, in the early 1900's. It is the only known surviving drum of this type from our area. There is a federal law called the Native American Graves Protection Repatriation Act (called NAGPRA for short) which enables tribes to claim their cultural property and eventually, return it to their communities. That is exactly what is happening with the drum in the New York State Museum. A written claim is being prepared and will be submitted to the museum for consideration this year. If the claim is approved, we will be able to welcome the Grandfather Drum home next year.

In May 2016, a visit was made to the Grandfather Drum. The following letter written by Miigwaans Smith, a young LTBB Tribal Citizen, captures the intense feelings this kind of activity can have to help energize and preserve our culture and community. If you have questions or comments, please contact Wes Andrews, LTBB NAGPRA Representative,

ALBANY, NY, REPATRIATION TRIP

By Miigwaans Smith, LTBB Tribal Citizen

Growing up, I was always expected to have respect for my elders, let them eat first, when offered tobacco to say a prayer before a meal, always do it, bring sema with me at all times and be aware of others. I learned all of this through my culture, traditions and family. The traditional aspect of my life is the part I like to focus on the most because it helps my own well-being and the healing of myself and others. I've always gone to ceremonies and had a special connection to the lodge like lots of other Anishinaabe do. The feeling I have when I'm there is so refreshing and breathtaking I couldn't live without it. In the lodge, I've sung many songs with the Grandfather and Little Boy drums and have experienced the activity, happiness and beautiful healing melodies they create. The songs are so special and learning them not only gives me a song to sing, but many teachings as well.

When my father (R.J. Smith) told me there was a Mide drum located in Albany, NY, that was from the LTBB Odawa, it filled me with happiness and excitement and made me proud to find out the beautiful songs I sing in my lodge were once sung here. He told me this just a few months after we had built a teaching lodge here. There hasn't been a Mide lodge here in a long time, and it felt good to finally build one. It was so coincidental to find out about the drum after this, but the drum wasn't here to be used in it. I feared the drum wouldn't return to be correctly used or to be put to rest. The location was far away, so I didn't think it was possible for the Grandfather to return; little did I know Wes Andrews was already working on the project, doing intensive research and finding a path for the drum to finally come home.

Just a few weeks ago, my father was asked by Wes Andrews to come to Albany with him to visit the drum. He also asked my mother to attend, but she had work and couldn't make the trip. Wes asked my father to find another Mide kwe (woman) to come and complete the ceremony which would happen for the Grandfather. So, my father asked me to come with. Although I'm only 17, I've worked hard and sacrificed a lot of time to receive my teachings and learn the original ways of my people. Wes agreed with my father, so I ended up going to Albany with them.

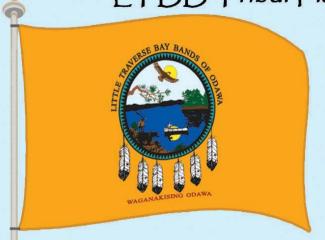

The whole purpose to us going there wasn't to receive the drum because it wasn't ready to come home yet, but to have a pipe ceremony and remind him that there are still people that love and care about him. In the Mide teachings, the Grandfather has a very strong spirit and needs to be used and taken care of correctly. That was our job, to go take care of his spirit and let him know he has a lodge to come home to.

We finally arrived in Albany after a 12-hour journey, and it was almost time to go visit and take care of him. My father and I were asked to complete a small ceremony for him, so he can heal and be reminded he's not alone. The museum which held him was very large, extravagant and nerve racking to walk into, but I knew who I was there for, so I set my nerves aside to have a clear mind when I'd finally see him. When we finally saw the Grandfather for the first time, it was very surreal. To finally be in the same room with him and touch the drum for the first time was a once in a lifetime experience. I felt very connected to the drum from the very first time I laid eyes on him.

We took him outside to pray for him and his healing. We did not completely wake him up, but he now knows the hard work and effort we're all putting in to bring him home. I wouldn't trade this experience for anything, and I will always feel honored that I was a part of this special journey.

SEEDS - CNC PROGRAM UPDATE

Submitted by Shiloh Guarisco, SEEDS Project Director

Working with Title VII students and the SPRING grant, the SEEDS (Sustainable Employment and Economic Development Strategies) – CNC program provided demonstrated tours of NCMC's FAB LAB at Mackinaw City, MI, Alanson, MI, and Wolverine, MI, schools, and students made paddle keychains.

Title VII students designed the paddle keychains made during the tours. During the tours, students got to see how the keychains are made firsthand, and then, after polishing and deburring, were able to take a keychain home.

Working with the LTBB Language Department, the SEEDS – CNC program provided demonstrated tours of NCMC's FAB LAB at Petoskey High School for the Anishinaabemowin I and II classes.

Similar to the SPRING/Title VII events, students designed the plaque (sturgeon), and each class (Anishinaabemowin I & II) chose four separate words to put on the back. The concept was for students to pass out the plaques to friends, giving them an opportunity to share with others the Anishinaabemowin language.

In addition to the sturgeon plaque, students were encouraged to bring an example of their own art where they were shown how to use the software to create a working design. From there, a keychain was made in the FAB LAB for each student who provided an example of their personal art.

In addition to traditional college, JIT and Customized Corporate training, the SEEDS - CNC program also provides dual enrollment for local high school students. We are expanding, adding our fifth high school onto the roster for the 2016-2017 academic year—Boyne City, MI, East Jordan, MI, Central Lake, MI, Pellston, MI, and Wolverine, MI.

Other area high school students have the option of taking dual enrollment CNC classes at our Stationary Lab located at NCMC's main campus (day and night classes offered) and/or seats may be available at any of the five high schools listed. If interested, please contact Shiloh Guarisco at 231-242-1579 or sguarisco@ltbbodawa-nsn.gov for more information. Financial assistance is available (rules and regulations may be applicable).

During the Petoskey Downtown Summer Open House held on June 3, 2016, the SEEDS – CNC program produced a Petoskey themed cube for demonstration of the Haas Mill. Four out of six sides were illustrated from actual photos taken, and then transposed into CNC software. This is a perfect example of how manufacturing has changed to incorporate so much more than just running machines. Industrial design/art plays a huge role in manufacturing, and without art and creative minds, manufacturing would not be where it is today.

NATURAL RESOURCES DEPARTMENT

NRD REMINDS PUBLIC TO LEAVE WILDLIFE IN THE WILD

Submitted by the Natural Resource Department

Spring is the season for wildlife to give birth. The Natural Resource Department (NRD) reminds tribal citizens and other Michigan residents to resist the instinct to try to help baby animals who may appear to be abandoned because in nearly every case, a parent is nearby, and the baby animal is not abandoned. Michigan's fawns, raccoons, fox kits, recently born black bear cubs, many species of chick and others may be out roaming as spring transitions into summer.

"The truth is, the animal doesn't need help - for example, even if a fawn appears to be abandoned, its mother is almost always nearby," NRD Wildlife Biologist Archie Kiogima said. "We appreciate the good intentions of those who want to help, but the animals are better off left alone than removed from the Kiogima said it's not uncommon for does to leave their young unattended for up to eight hours at a time; an anti-predator strategy which minimizes scent left around the newborn animals. "The same holds true for rabbits, ground-dwelling birds and other wildlife," he said. "Even avian parents will continue to care for hatchlings that have fallen from a nest."

The NRD advises:

• Many baby animals will die if removed from their natural environment, and some have diseases or parasites that can be passed on to humans or pets.

- Some "rescued" animals who do survive become habituated to people and are unable to revert back to life in the wild. It is illegal to possess a wild deer or any other wild animals in Michigan, and every day, a deer spends with humans makes it that much less likely to be able to survive in
- Eventually, habituated animals pose additional problems as they mature and develop adult animal behaviors. Habituated deer, especially bucks, can become aggressive as they mature, and raccoons are well-known for

• The NRD also reminds tribal citizens as well as Michigan residents that it is unlawful to possess these animals without a valid permit or associated document allowing for possession.

The LTBB Natural Resource Department is committed to the conservation, protection, management, wise use and enjoyment of the tribe's natural and cultural resources for current and future generations.

LTBB CULTURAL LIBRARY

ELECTRONIC BOOKBAG MAKES USING THE LTBB CULTURAL LIBRARY More Convenient

Did you know you can go to the Cultural Library webpage and use the "Bookbag" function, and the friendly library staff will have your items ready for you when you get here?

If not, you are not alone! Not many people know this function exists.

Well, the library staff wants to change that. If you are a library patron, you can sign in to the library webpage by using your library number and pin. If you can't remember them, just call the library at 231-242-1487, and we will gladly help you retrieve them.

Next, you can search for items in the search bar if you know the title or author. Another way to find items is to search using the tabs at the top of the page which say, "New in library "or "Popular Titles." When you find the item you want, click on the item. Then, click the button which says "Add to Bookbag."

Once you have everything you want in your Bookbag, you click on the tab in the far right corner of your screen which says "My Bookbag." The list of items you chose will appear, and if you click on each one, and then click the button which says "Reserve/ Hold," it will then give you the option to pick the date you will be in to pick up your items. From there, all you have to do is click the "Reserve" button, and we will have your items pulled and ready for you when you get here. If you can't make it on your scheduled day, just give us a call and we can schedule another day. If for some reason you can't pick up your items on the scheduled day and you can't phone, the items will go back on the shelf and your hold on said items will be taken off.

This is a great function if you are in a hurry, want to get books on your lunch hour, already know what you want, but don't know where in the library to find it or if you are like me, a person who loves to online shop.

We hope you check out the LTBB Cultural Library's webpage, browse our titles and try using our Bookbag function. Again, if you need help, we are just a phone call away at 231-242-1487.

Hello everyone. I am so honored to be working with your members of Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians. My name is "One who walks beside the women who bring sunshine and from the Martin Clan." I am from Manitoulin Island, of a First Nation called Sheshegwaning. We reside in a little town called Little Current. Maryann Endanawas is my name. My husband's name is Joe. We were blessed with four children to love and raise. We have four beautiful grandchildren to cherish and love.

I have been an educator for many years. I have taught language and also as a regular teacher in various schools. I recently assisted with a project for Anishinaabewin which is a tool for evaluating language.

Our language is in everything we do in our lives. Our language is alive. If we lose this language, there will be no life in the language we are speaking now. It is very important to use our Anishinaabewin every day.

Gijigowi Anishinaabemowin Language Department, Kinoomaagejik ANA Project (KAP) will host a one-day Anishinaabemowin Family Language Camp on Saturday, July 23, 2016, beginning at 12 p.m.

It will be held at Osborne Road, the LTBB Traditional Pow Wow grounds - please see accompa-

The KAP teacher-trainees will assist with facilitating various activities, including some physical activities to engage children and families. There will also be some not so physical activities such as fluent teachers facilitating bingo and crafts. Snacks will be available, and there will be a potluck dinner at 5 p.m.

More activities will follow dinner, and as it goes into the evening, we'll have a bonfire, s'mores and a lot of language and fun, doing storytelling and songs. Come on out and join us for a day of fun, learning and family togetherness!

Specialists from the LTBB Education Department serve as a team to teach the KAP teacher-trainees teacher education such as classroom management, curriculum and materials development and Anishinaabemowin vocabulary, reading, writing and grammar. Alison Simon chimes in on Dorothy Perry's lesson presentation about curriculum as related to Early Child Learning. # Hoeven, Cramer: President Signs Native American Children's SAFETY ACT INTO LAW - MEASURE REQUIRES BACKGROUND CHECKS ON ADULTS IN TRIBAL FOSTER HOMES

Editor's note: The following is a press release dated June 3, 2016 from U.S. Senator John Hoeven (North Dakota).

Senator John Hoeven and Congressman Kevin Cramer today (June 3, 2016) announced President Barack Obama has signed into law S. 184, the Native American Children's Safety Act, which Hoeven authored and introduced in the Senate. Congressman Cramer then led the effort to get the measure passed in the House. The legislation implements protections for Native American children placed by tribal courts into the tribal foster care system.

"A decade ago, we worked in North Dakota to ensure that all adults living in a foster home were background checked to protect the children in their care, and now, we have extended that same safety net for children in tribal foster care in North Dakota and across the nation," Hoeven said. "Starting today, it's the law of the land."

"Native American children are more than two and a half times more likely to be victims of abuse or neglect than other American children," Cramer said. "And, children exposed to violence are more likely to abuse drugs and alcohol and suffer from depression, anxiety and post-traumatic disorders. The standards in this bill mirror existing national requirements for non-tribal foster care placements ensuring tribal children receive care at least equal to the protections afforded non-tribal children."

Prior to today, there was no consistent requirement Native American tribes conduct background checks on everyone living in a foster care house, yet there has been abuse and harm committed by adults living in the same foster care home as the children.

The Native American Children's Safety Act requires background checks to be conducted on all adults living in a potential foster home before a tribal court may place a child in that home. The check will include a national criminal records check and a review of child abuse or neglect registries in any state in which the individual under review has lived in the preceding five years.

A background check will also be required of any adult who moves into the home after placement. To ensure the ongoing safety of children placed in foster care, a certified home will periodically be subject to another round of checks before it could be recertified. Tribes also have the flexibility to require additional checks if they want.

Highlights of the Native American Children's Safety Act:

- Requires all prospective foster care parents and adults living in the home undergo a background check prior to the placement of a Native American foster care child.
- Requires background checks include checking for criminal activity as well as state and tribal child abuse and neglect registries.
- Requires adults who join the household after the foster care child has been placed there also undergo background checks.
- Requires foster care homes undergo recertification periodically to ensure they remain safe for foster care children.
- Allows a tribe the flexibility for additional requirements it determines necessary within its ex-
- The bill specifies the Department of Interior will work with tribes to establish necessary procedures to ensure the safety of foster care children.
- The bill requires the Bureau of Indian Affairs, which currently does not conduct these background checks in every case when placing Native American children in foster homes, to follow these same requirements when acting on behalf of the tribes.

Access to Capital and Credit in Native Communities Report Released

A new independent report on access to capital and credit in American Indian, Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian communities (Native communities) was recently released by the Native Nations Institute.

The Access to Capital and Credit in Native Communities Report, commissioned by the U.S. Department of the Treasury's Community Development Financial Institutions Fund (CDFI Fund), examines recent successes in the effort to improve access to capital and credit in Native communities as well as what can be done to build on that success. The CDFI Fund commissioned the report as a follow-up to its 2001 Native American Lending Study, which analyzed access to capital and financial services in Native communities, identified barriers to access and provided options to address the barriers.

One of the successes examined in the report is the critical role of Community Development Financial Institutions that serve Native communities (Native CDFIs), and how, thanks to the growth and reach of Native CDFIs, many Native community residents who want to buy a home, start a business or take control of their finances have better options today than they did when the CDFI Fund first examined the issue in 2001. It also discusses the role of the CDFI Fund's programs for Native CDFIs, which have been a critical source of technical assistance and training in addition to capital.

NURSING SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE FROM NURSING.ORG

Nursing.org is now accepting applications through August 1, 2016 (midnight PST) for three nursing scholarships: Nurses First Scholarship ($1000), Bridging Your Career: The RN to BSN Scholarship ($500) and Breaking Barriers: Scholarship for Men in Nursing ($500).

Students are allowed to apply to more than one scholarship if they are selected to be finalists for more than one scholarship, they will be entered into the one with the highest purse unless they choose otherwise.

Nurses First Scholarship ($1,000)

This nursing scholarship recognizes an outstanding student enrolled at any level of nursing education. The recipient demonstrates dedication to nursing's evolving role in the healthcare system, the drive to make nursing a lifelong career and a commitment to outstanding patient care.

Requirements • Be 18 years of age or older

when submitting application

- Be actively enrolled in an accredited nursing program
- Have a minimum GPA of
- Submit a 500-1,000 word essay

Essay Prompt

Who had the biggest influence on your nursing career, how did they motivate you and how can their inspiration better the field of nursing?

Bridging Your Career: The RN to BSN Scholarship ($500)

Reserved specifically for registered nurses enrolled in an RN to BSN program, this nursing scholarship goes to a nurse who has demonstrated commitment to the Institute of Medicine's call for BSN education nurses and understands the importance of increased education in improved patient outcomes.

Requirements

- Be 18 years of age or older when submitting application
- Be actively enrolled in an accredited RN to BSN program
- Have a minimum GPA of
- Submit a 500-1,000 word essay Essay Prompt

Describe how you think the IOM's goal of an 80% BSN educated nursing workforce would change our healthcare system and explain what can be done to motivate more nurses to get a baccalaureate education.

Breaking Barriers: Scholarship for Men in Nursing ($500)

Unfortunately, nursing is too often viewed as a field meant solely for women. If we are going to meet future nursing needs, we need to recruit as many people as possible, and this requires changing the perception that nursing can't be manly. The recipient of this nursing scholarship will show outstanding character, confidence and ability in nursing.

Requirements

- Be male and 18 years of age or older when submitting application
- Be actively enrolled in an accredited nursing program
  - Have a minimum GPA of
- Submit a 500-1,000 word essay Essay Prompt

Why do you think nursing is widely regarded as a feminine field, how do you propose we change this perception and why do you feel this is import-

SUNDANCE INSTITUTE SELECTS TWO ARTISTS FOR NATIVE FILMMAKERS LAB - SHANE McSauby and Willi White to Participate in FELLOWSHIP AND BRING THEIR SHORT FILMS TO LIFE

Editor's note: The following is a Sundance Institute press release dated June 7, 2016.

Sundance Institute announced today (June 7, 2016) the two emerging Native American storytellers who will participate in the 2016 Native Filmmakers

Shane McSauby

Shane McSauby (Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians) and Willi White (Oglala Lakota) will attend the lab and receive guidance from esteemed creative advisors. After the lab, they will receive grants to fund the production of their short films, targeted support from a supervising producer and participation in the annual Native Forum at the 2017 Sundance Film Festival. The lab, taking place in Santa Fe, NM, June 12-17, is a highlight of the institute's year-round work in the discovery and development of Native American and indigenous film-

The institute has established a rich legacy of commitment to Native film, supporting more than 300 Native and indigenous filmmakers, including Taika Waititi (Te Whānau-ā-Apanui), Chris Eyre (Cheyenne/Arapaho), Sterlin Harjo (Seminole/ Muskogee), Billy Luther (Diné/ Hopi/Laguna Pueblo), Andrew Okpeaha MacLean (Iñupiaq), Aurora Guerrero (Xicana), Sydney Freeland (Diné), Blake Pickens (Chickasaw) and Ciara Lacy (Kanaka Maoli).

The Native Filmmakers Lab, now in its second year of providing dedicated support for short film projects, allows fellows to identify and break down challenging scenes from their scripts, rehearse with actors, shoot test scenes, edit footage and present for constructive critiques. Throughout the lab, fellows engage in one-on-one meetings with advisors as well as view advisors' films to spark discussions about the journeys of their stories from script to audience screenings. This is one of 24 residential labs the institute hosts each year to discover and foster independent artists in film, theatre, new media and episodic

The filmmakers serving as creative advisors for this year's Native Lab include Jen Gerber (The Revival), Reinaldo Marcus Green (Stop, Stone Cars), Andrew Okpeaha MacLean (Sikumi, On the Ice), Cara Marcous (On the Ice) and Blake Pickens (The Land).

N. Bird Runningwater (Cheyenne/Mescalero Apache), Director of the Sundance Institute Native American and Indigenous Program, said, "Our Native Filmmakers Lab is a unique space for the next generation of indigenous filmmakers to develop their own stories, especially amid calls for greater diversity in Hollywood. We are thrilled to support Shane and Willi on their creative journeys and look forward to ensuring that their stories reach audiences and their careers continue to develop and

Since the founding of the institute, three generations of Native artists have been supported with a strong focus on further uplifting the indigenous voice within film and culture. The Native Program has built and sustained a unique support cycle for indigenous artists through grants, labs, mentorships, fellowships, the platform of Sundance Film Festival and screenings in

THE WHITE HOUSE STUDENT FILM FESTIVAL ACCEPTING SUBMISSIONS THROUGH JULY 15, 2016

Have hopes for the future? Thoughts on how your generation will bring them to life? Love to make films or ever just secretly wished to give it a shot? Well, this is your chance!

From now through July 15, 2016, we'll be accepting submissions for the third annual White House Student Film Festival. Our theme is "The World I Want To Live In" and we're inviting U.S. students, grades K-12, to participate. Tell us what you hope the future will hold for us - sci-fi lasers? Flying cars? Yourself as President? - in the form of a short film.

It can be fictional, animated, live-action documentary or anything else you dream up. We're just excited to see what you make!

Bonus: If selected, you may have the chance to attend the film fest yourself at the White House.

For inspiration, take a look at the official selections from last year's (https://www.whitehouse.gov/ filmFest#lastYear) White House Student Film Festival when the themes were "The Power of Technology in Education & The Impact of Giving Back."

Films can be short – in fact, they must be three minutes tops. The official selections will be featured on the White House website and shared across the world on White House sites and official social media accounts

Submission Guidelines:

All films must be shorter than three minutes.

All films must be made by students in grades

No film may use copyrighted material, including music, TV shows or movies.

All films must be uploaded to YouTube.

All film submissions must be received by 11:59 p.m. EST on July 15, 2016.

For more information, visit www.whitehouse. gov/filmfest.

Michigan Indian Land Claims Settlement CERTIFICATE REDEMPTION UPDATE

Submitted by the Trust Fund Board

It has been more than a decade since the original Michigan Indian Land Claims Settlement certificates were issued.

All adults have been paid or they have deferred payment to a later date, however, tribal children who were enrolled before December 16, 1997 but had not yet turned 18 are still in the process of redeeming their certificates.

The following steps are intended to aid in this process. Redeeming certificates from the Michigan Indian Land Claims Settlement Act, Public Law 105-143, are as follows:

- 1. Determine your eligibility: Tribal citizens who were enrolled, but had not reached the age of 18 on December 16, 1997 are eligible to redeem their
- certificates upon reaching the age of 18. 2. Sign your certificates with a notary: The tribal citizen redeeming his or her certificates must have a notarized signature.
- 3. Copy two pieces of identification: One piece of identification (e.g. Driver's license) must have a picture, and the second piece needs at least
- 4. Mail your signed certificates, the mailing address you would like your check sent to and two pieces of identification to the following address

Note: The address on the certificates is not correct:

TBB Trust Fund Board

7500 Odawa Circle

Harbor Springs, MI 49740

If you have lost your certificates or need further assistance, call Trust Fund

Board Member Steve Schmidt at 734-717-4406.

OUNC: In accordance with law and policy, Elders Comment/Public Comment as recorded in the minutes will contain the name of the Citizen or "Immediate Family" or "Family member" and only the subject matter brought by the individual. No attempt will be made by the Legislative Branch to summarize the comments. Written public comments will be accepted by the Legislative Office. Written comments shall be attached to the official approved minutes housed in the Legislative Branch. Written comments are not published, however shall be open to review within the Legislative Office in accordance with any laws regarding such documents.

National Native Organizations Receive Funding to Pursue First KIDS 1ST: EVERY NATIVE CHILD IS SACRED INITIATIVE

Editor's note: The following is a National Congress of American Indians (NCAI) press release dated June 14, 2016.

This week, the W.K. Kellogg Foundation awarded a generous grant to the National Congress of American Indians (NCAI), the National Indian Child Welfare Association (NICWA), the National Indian Education Association (NIEA) and the National Indian Health Board (NIHB) to support a nationwide campaign to lift up and support Native

This initiative called First Kids 1st: Every Native Child is Sacred aims to galvanize systems changes in education, health, welfare and governance to better support Native children and youth. In each of these areas, community-determined community-driven changes will improve the systems which impact Native youth, allowing them more and better opportunities to achieve their full potential.

The collaboration began in 2008 with the creation of the original National Children's Agenda, crafted by these four partner organizations and also funded by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. The agenda was updated in 2015 as the Native Children's Policy Agenda: Putting First Kids 1st with tribal strategies and policy objectives to implement its principles. The partners look forward to engaging with tribal leaders, community leaders, tribal citizens and Native youth across Indian country and the nation to realize the vision of us to make our Native children and youth our first priority. In whatever position we hold, we all have the opportunity to ensure our youth will thrive and prosper. Through love, responsibility and focus we can take opportunities for our children and youth to the next level," shared NCAI Executive Director Jaque-

The First Kids 1st initiative comes at a pivotal time with Native youth making up 39% of the American Indian and Alaska Native population. These demographic trends bring unique opportunities to address some of the longstanding disparities seen in Indian country and Native communities. Through multi-media communications, community engagement, data development, policy analysis and capacity building, the First Kids 1st campaign will offer a range of strategies, activities and tools, so communities can design and implement the solutions which best address their needs.

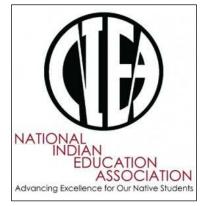

NICWA Executive Director Sarah Kastelic stated, "Our First Kids 1st team looks forward to working alongside all of our community partners. No one organization can do this work alone; we need each other to address the needs of children and youth holistically. Collaboration makes our vision clearer, our efforts stronger and our success more certain."

With the new funding from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, First Kids 1st will reinforce outreach efforts and ramp up capacity building trainings beginning this summer and fall.

"We know that targeted, sustained and smart investments can make all the difference in our tribal communities. This is an exciting time, and we are honored to have a role in that investment in our Native children and youth," shared Stacy Bohlen, NIHB Executive Director.

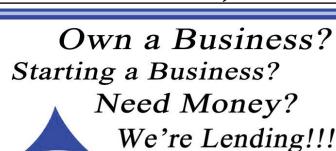

Campaign partners also look forward to sharing the updated 2015 Native Children's Policy Agenda: Putting First Kids 1st, and providing youth data and policy recommendations.

"Decision makers at every level need real-time, accurate information about our children and youth. Part of our charge will be to drill down on that data, and share it broadly, so that policies and programs designed for our youth bring the benefits they promise," stated NIEA Executive Director Ahniwake Rose.

"This campaign is about caring communities creating capable and confident kids. It's as simple as that," said Pata. The First Kids 1st partner organizations invite all who care about Native children and youth to join the initiative and help spread the nomic development purposes to begin construction on the first phase of the casino.

LTBB's original compact with the State of Michigan allows the tribe to have a second Class III casino, however, the Mackinaw City Village Council voted 4-3 on October 15, 2015 to decline a request from the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians to build a Class III casino within the city limits of Mackinaw City, MI.

Despite that, LTBB moved forward to construct the Class II casino at the site of the former Thunder Falls Water Park in Mackinaw City because LTBB did not need the approval of a local governing body to open a Class II casino. It did need the approval of a local governing body to open a Class III casino as mandated by its compact with the State of Michigan. LTBB acquired the land in Mackinaw City, MI, in 2012.

ceremonial release of the classroom Nme into the Black River, located in Cheboygan County, MI, each May. We believe closing out the unit with ceremony is an important aspect of the program which foregrounds a traditional cultural perspective and makes it unique among other similar fish-in-the-classroom programs. When students, Native and non-Native, participate, they learn to see and think from another cultural perspective and begin to appreciate that perspective as important and relevant.

This year's release took place on May 24 and included more than 60 students from Pellston, MI, and Harbor Springs, MI. The ceremonial release of the Nme included only one fish, Tank Demsey, as he was named by the Pellston class. The second Nme in Harbor Springs, Spike-ba, suffered an unfortunate fate before the release and is now with his ancestors in the spirit realm.

Each step of the ceremonial release was explained along the way. Students from the two schools gathered and were guided in taking semaa (tobacco) and reciting a prayer of thanks and well wishes in Anishinaabemowin which was led by LTBB Tribal Citizen Fred Harrington. Fred was joined by his grandson, Riley, in a traveling song that was offered to the Nme for his journey. The tobacco was collected and offered to the Black River. A student volunteer then released Tank Demsey into the river.

Following the release, the students walked a short distance to view a sturgeon collection where trained fish biologists temporarily trapped Lake Sturgeon and harvested their eggs to be used in the fish hatchery sturgeon program. Students also received a Black River Hatchery Tour and learned about the roles of fish hatcheries in supporting fish populations.

After another successful school year of Nme Teachings, the LTBB Natural Resources Department and LTBB Niigaandiwin Education Department will be expanding the program into two additional school districts for the 2016-2017 academic year.

Congratulations

Congratulations to Vicki Ann Kelley for graduating from North Central Michigan College with her Associates in General Studies, YOU DID IT! She will be continuing her education at Lake Superior State University to pursue a Bachelor's degree in Business. We are all so incredibly proud of you. It's been a long time coming, but you pushed through and did your absolute best. Keep up the amazing work! Love, your children, husband and sister. ©

Congratulations to Aaron Zehe, who graduated from Arizona State University (ASU) with a Bachelor of Science in Engineering. He recently attended the American Indian Convocation, which honors ASU's American Indian graduates. He looks forward to putting some of his engineering skills to work before he goes back for his MBA at the WP Carey School of Business at ASU. His long-term goal is to become a Professional Engineer. He wishes to thank his parents for always encouraging him to not give up on anything in life and for setting the foundation for making this possible. He said so many people have contributed in countless ways, and it would be impossible to name everyone, but they know who they are and they have his thanks forever. He also wishes to thank LTBB for the financial support he received.

Congratulations

Congratulations to my wonderful daughter, Sunnese Granados, who graduated from Ferris State University with a Bachelor's in Business Administration. The ones who are proud of you most are here in spirit. We all know how hard you worked, and the sacrifices you went through to get that degree. William King, Sunnese Rainwater and Jesse King totally believed in you. You're a good role model for your siblings. I'm proud and love you.

Congratulations to Ira and Lorelei Walker, who were named the Area 33 Outstanding Coaches of the Year for Special Olympics Michigan. Ira and Lorelei started out as volunteers and went through coaching certification. They have faced many obstacles in life, but they face them with positivity and are dedicated to what they do.

Congratulations to Marty Van De Car, who was named the Char-Em United Way Volunteer of the Month for June 2016. He served on the Char-Em United Way Board of Directors for three years and was also on the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors. He currently works as a Surveillance Operator at Odawa Casino in Petoskey, MI, and was previously the Odawa Hotel Director, Odawa Casino Player Development Manager and Odawa Casino Community Development Manager.

GOVERNOR SUSANA MARTINEZ AND GATHERING OF NATIONS ANNOUNCE Expo New Mexico as the New Home for North America's Largest Pow Wow-Agreement Keeps Gathering of Nations in Albuquerque

Editor's note: The following is a Gathering of Nations press release dated June 1, 2016.

Today (June 1, 2016), Governor Susana Martinez and Gathering of Nations Founder Derek Mathews announced an agreement to ensure North America's largest pow wow remains in New Mexico for years to come. With the agreement, the Gathering of Nations will be held at Tingley Coliseum and the New Mexico State Fairgrounds for the next four years with an option for an additional four years. EXPO New Mexico General Manager Dan Mourning, Albuquerque Mayor Richard J. Berry and the Albuquerque Hispano Chamber of Commerce joined Governor Martinez and Mr. Mathews for the announcement.

"I'm proud to announce the Gathering of Nations isn't going anywhere - it's staying right here in Albuquerque," Governor Martinez said. "I'm pleased that our state will continue to host this event, which will now have its home at the New Mexico State Fairgrounds. The Gathering of Nations is part of what it means to be New Mexico True, and I'm grateful that we will continue to showcase the best our state has to offer - both to the rest of the country and the world."

The 34th Annual Gathering of Nations will be held at Tingley Coliseum and the New Mexico State Fairgrounds from April 27 to 29, 2017.

"The Gathering of Nations is very excited to hold its 2017 event at EXPO New Mexico," said Derek Mathews, founder of the Gathering of Nations. "I want to thank Governor Martinez, Mayor Berry, the Albuquerque Hispano Chamber of Commerce and EXPO New Mexico for helping to keep the Gathering of Nations in Albuquerque. I want to especially thank the huge outpouring of support from our city, state, Indian country and around the world. This level of support and confidence gave the Gathering of Nations a refreshing and creative opportunity to find a new home. Tingley Coliseum and EXPO New Mexico will provide upgraded amenities and a friendly and welcoming environment to host our participants and guests attending the world's largest powwow. The expansive space of EXPO New Mexico will give the Gathering of Nations the opportunity to also expand the size of the event to accommodate an increased amount of artisans and traders, music groups and food vendors in years to come."

The Gathering of Nations hosts tens of thousands of people and more than 700 tribes from throughout the United States, Canada and around the world each year. The three-day event includes more than 3,000 traditional Native American singers and dancers competing for prizes, more than 800 Native American artisans, craftsmen and traders displaying and selling their work as well as more than 30 contemporary indigenous music groups performing on Stage 49. Food vendors in the Native Food Court offer guests a large selection of food choices ranging between southwestern-style cuisine and traditional Native American fare. During the pow wow, a young Native American woman is crowned Miss Indian World and presents all Native and indigenous people as a cultural goodwill ambassador. For news, updates and pow wow information, please visit www.

"Gathering of Nations is an incredibly important event for Albuquerque, both culturally and economically. It brings together diverse communities from around the world to celebrate Native American and indigenous cultures," Mayor Berry said. "We are fortunate that the Mathews family has chosen to make Albuquerque home to the event. Today's announcement is very exciting. I am thrilled to have worked with the Mathews family and the Albuquerque Hispano Chamber of Commerce to facilitate a long-term plan to keep the Gathering of Nations event right here in Albuquerque, and I'm grateful for Governor Martinez's leadership on this agreement."

"It's a new day," said President and CEO of the Albuquerque Hispano Chamber of Commerce Alex O. Romero. "This change brings about tremendous opportunities as the event is positioned to be even greater and more inclusive of our local community; this is indeed an exciting time."

"In working with the Mathews family over the last several weeks, it has been our privilege to forge a partnership to provide exceptional facilities which meet the needs of this incredible, culturally significant event. As the only true multi-purpose events center in the state, whose mission is deeply rooted in New Mexico's unique history and diversity of people, we provide the perfect canvas for the Gathering of Nations to build on an already first class event," EXPO New Mexico General Manager Dan Mourning said.

Support for Expansion of Community Health Aide Program Beyond Alaska

Editor's note: The following statement by Barbara Ferrer, Chief Strategy Officer of the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, was released on June 6, 2016.

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation (WKKF) applauds the Indian Health Service's (IHS) announcement to expand Alaska's successful Community Health Aide Program (CHAP), which includes dental therapists to tribal communities throughout the United States.

Community health aide workers are critical to expanding access to much-needed health care and dental health services that so many tribal citizens have long had to do without. IHS will now consult with tribal leaders on the proposed plans and will be accepting public comments on the proposal through July 29,

CHAP began in the 1960s as a tribal solution to make primary care services available to Alaska Natives in remote communities in Alaska. In the CHAP program, Alaska Natives have been trained to serve as primary care, non- physician providers, which includes behavioral health, nursing and dental health aides.

Communities value and embrace these providers who overwhelmingly return to practice in the villages and surrounding areas in which they grew up. They offer high-quality, culturally competent care and a deep understanding of the community, its traditions and cultures, as well as its health needs.

Having traveled to Alaska just last week, I had a chance to see this front-line initiative operating in real time. Prior to joining WKKF, I oversaw the public health system in Boston for a number of years, and I have seen many innovative initiatives as a prior Vice Chair of the Big Cities Health Coalition Alumni Council, which is a project of the National Association of County and City Health Officials. I was impressed with the rigor of the community dental health aide therapist program in Alaska. It is clearly making an immense difference in promoting health equity and improving the overall health of tribal members and their communities. What I saw confirmed the findings from a national RTI study, "Evaluation of Dental Health Aide Therapist Workforce in Alaska," which reports dental health aide therapists provide high-quality, safe and effective care to people in their own communities. Equally important, it found patients were highly satisfied with the care they received.

Today, the Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium's Dental Health Aide Therapist (DHAT) Program is providing regular dental care to 45,000 people living in remote Alaska Native villages, and oral health is improving.

The IHS recognition of the vision of tribal leaders in adding these professionals to health and dental care teams is the first step toward making a national federally-funded CHAP program a reality.

NEW REGULATIONS WILL IMPROVE COMPLIANCE WITH INDIAN CHILD WELFARE ACT AND KEEP FAMILIES TOGETHER • Clarification the "existing Indian family doc

Editor's note: The following is a National Congress of American Indians (NCAI) press release dated June 8, 2016.

Today (June 8, 2016), the Department of the Interior released new final regulations governing state court and agency child custody proceedings to insure uniform compliance with the Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 (ICWA). The previous ICWA regulations had a narrow scope and covered only the administration of ICWA service programs authorized under the act. Revisions to the regulations were sorely needed and long overdue as implementation guidance has been lacking and compliance with ICWA has been highly inconsistent since passage of the act.

"The new regulations will keep families together," explained NCAI President Brian Cladoosby, praising the development. "Clear and consistent rules for child placement also will result in faster and more reliable placement decisions for all affected families, creating better outcomes for our children." Highlights of the updated regulations include:

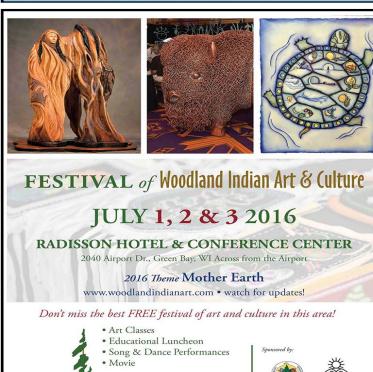

- Clear guidance on "active efforts" state courts and agencies must employ to provide services and programs designed to prevent removal and encourage reunification.
- Clarification of notice and time frames to improve compliance and expedite the process.
- A requirement state courts and agencies inquire whether ICWA applies in every child custody proceeding.
- Procedures governing emergency removal of Indian children.

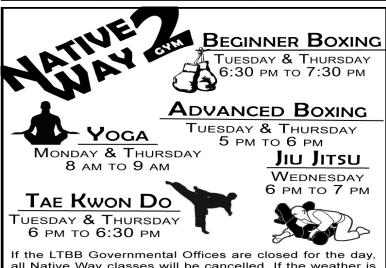

• Clarification the "existing Indian family doctrine" is not an exception to ICWA's application and only the tribe has the power to determine a child's membership status.

Preference for relative placement is considered in the best interest of all children, not just Native American children. Relative child placement preference is the law in 45 states. It is also federal law under Title IV-E of the Social Security Act. This is because research and best practice prove children fare better when placed with relatives. The revised regulations' focus on keeping families together is especially important to Native families given the history. In 1959, as part of the federal government's "termination" policy of the era, the Bureau of Indian Affairs entered a contract with the Child Welfare League of America to implement a nationwide adoption policy for Native American children. Entitled the "Indian Adoption Project," the policy mandated Indian children were to be adopted out to non-Indian families. Project-approved state agencies took on the responsibility of enacting this policy of "Indian extraction" where Native American children were routinely removed from their homes and schools by state social workers based on vague allegations of poverty and neglect. By the time ICWA was passed in 1978, 35% of all Native American children had been taken from their families and placed in adoptive, foster or institutional care. In passing ICWA, Congress intended to combat this deliberate, collaborative abuse of the child welfare system to reinstate tribal government authority to determine child placement and to restore the integrity of Indian families. Despite the passage of ICWA, the abuse of Native American children and families continues to the present. In 2015, in Oglala Sioux Tribe v. Van Hunnick, the United States District Court for South Dakota found a South Dakota state judge and the State Department of Social Services "failed to protect Indian parents' fundamental rights to a fair hearing by not allowing them to present evidence to contradict the State's removal documents. The defendants failed by not allowing the parents to confront and cross-examine DSS witnesses. The defendants failed by using documents as a basis for the court's decisions which were not provided to the parents and which were not received in evidence at the 48-hour hearings." The new regulations will help to end these
