participating in the youth track during the conferences, and has attended the National UNITY Council Conference three

In July 2012, Schilling attended the National UNITY Council Conference where she was elected by the Midwest Area Caucus to serve a one-year term on the UNITY Executive Committee as the Mid-West Area Representative.

"I've always wanted to be on the Executive Committee," Schilling said. "I've looked up to them (Executive Committee members) because they help put on a national conference that empowers Native youth. We (the UNITY Executive Committee) plan and run the national conference. People (previous UNITY Executive Committee members and advisors and Youth Services Coordinator Kristy Dayson) encouraged me to run, and that gave me the confidence to do it. I'm

By Annette VanDeCar, Communications Coordinator

Alexa Oldman is only 10 years old and is already a twotime winner at the Crow Fair Pow Wow.

Oldman, who is LTBB and Northern Arapaho, won the girls fancy 6-12 age category at the Crow Fair Pow Wow in 2011 and 2012, competing against 20-plus dancers each year. Crow Fair, one of the largest pow wows in the United States, draws thousands of dancers and visitors annually to Crow Agency, MT.

"I like competing and dancing for my family and those who can't dance," Alexa said. "I like meeting new people from different tribes and being around Indians. I enjoy traveling and seeing new places. Crow Fair is my favorite pow wow because I get to see all the horses, all the teepees and my fam-

In addition to winning at Crow Fair the last two years, she placed fourth at the 2012 Denver March Pow Wow, fifth at the 2012 Legends Casino Pow Wow and first at the 59th Annual American Indian Center of Chicago Pow Wow, the 2012 Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe of Michigan Pow Wow and the 21st Annual Odawa Homecoming Pow Wow.

"She started dancing as soon as she could walk, and she was a natural," said Eva Oldman, Alexa's mother. "She loves all kinds of music and dancing in general. As she gets older, she seems to enjoy it more. Her enjoyment of dancing grows with her. When you enjoy something, you tend to do well at

Alexa competes in approximately 20 pow wows annually and has danced in 11 states (Montana, Washington, Colorado, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wyoming, Ohio, Kansas, Wisconsin and Michigan). She was one of the Head Junior Dancers at the 27th Annual Kee-Boon-Mein-

Kaa Pow Wow held September 1 and 2, 2012. At the 53rd Annual Eastern Shoshone Indian Days held in June 2012, she "Oldman" continued on page 20.

LTBB AN ENERGY LEADER, OPERATES FIRST SMALL-SCALE WIND TURBINE AT MTIGWAAKIIIS HOUSING IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY, MI

On June 8, 2012, LTBB's first small-scale wind turbine began spinning.

The 2.2 kilowatt (or kW) wind turbine was installed at the Mtigwaakiis Housing site in Charlevoix County, MI, to generate energy to run the two drinking water wells and pumps. The turbine should generate ~3,400 kW hours (kWh) per year or approximately 290 kWh a month. To put this in perspective, the U.S. Energy Information Administration shows the average residential household in Michigan uses 681 kWh per month. Although relatively small amounts of energy are being produced, we are utilizing renewable resources and evaluating the viability of wind on the reservation through this pilot project.

This project was funded in part with a grant from the U.S. Department of Energy beginning in October 2010. Since that time, LTBB staff and the Executive have worked together through the Energy Advisory Team to collect and evaluate wind data, potential sites and wind turbine technologies. In November 2011, Tribal Council approved the project at the current location, and construction began in early April 2012.

In its first billing cycle (less than a month), the wind turbine cut the energy usage of the well pumps in half, generating more than $12 in bill credit. This is especially good considering summer is the least productive wind season.

For more information on renewable energy, please contact the Natural Resource Department - Environmental Services Program at 231-242-1571 or EnvironmentalServices@ltbbodawa-nsn.gov.

DID YOU KNOW?

WIND IS CREATED WHEN THE SUN HEATS THE EARTH'S SURFACE UNEVENLY. WIND TURBINES CONVERT THE KINETIC ENERGY IN WIND INTO MECHANICAL POWER WHICH RUNS A GENERATOR TO PRODUCE CLEAN ELECTRICITY. A TURBINE'S BLADES ARE AERODYNAMICALLY DESIGNED TO CAPTURE THE MAXIMUM ENERGY FROM THE WIND. THE WIND TURNS THE BLADES, WHICH SPIN A SHAFT CONNECTED TO A GENERATOR, WHICH MAKES ELECTRICITY.

MEET ENVIRONMENTAL RESPONSE SPECIALIST Kevin Hurrell

Kevin Hurrell started as the Environmental Response Specialist, working in the Environmental Services Program of the Natural Resource Department, on August 1, 2012.

As the Environmental Response Specialist, he is working on developing an inventory of brownfields in the 1855 Treaty area. A brownfield is abandoned or underused industrial and commercial facilities available for reuse. Expansion or redevelopment of such a facility may be complicated by real or perceived environmental contaminations. Once an initial inventory has been developed, he will begin to implement plans to assess and remediate contaminated areas which threaten or could potentially threaten land in the 1855 treaty area. Funding for Kevin's work comes from two tribal grants obtained through the EPA for solid and hazardous waste issues; the tribal GAP grant and the 128a CERCLA/Brownfields Implementation Support grant. Kevin is dedicated to establishing partnerships with local agencies and tribes with the same mission and similar funding sources. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

TAX AGREEMENT INFORMATION

By Theresa Keshick, Department of Commerce Assistant

The Department of Commerce (DOC) would like to remind the tribal membership about a few items pertaining to the Tax Agreement.

First of all, I cannot express enough how important it is to keep your address updated.

The first step in becoming a Resident Tribal Member (RTM) is to officially change your address with the Enrollment Department. This must be done in writing and as soon as possible.

The DOC cannot and will not change the estimated beginning date (EBD) (which is always the first in any given month) of a member's tax exempt status (see example below).

It is YOUR responsibility to update your address on file with the Enrollment Department. This date will affect how many months you will be able to file the Annual Resident Tribal Member Sales Tax Credit (Tribal Form 4013). It is to your benefit to be able to file for the maximum number of months for this credit.

In addition, being an RTM will allow you to purchase large items such as vehicles, boats, motorcycles and off the road vehicles tax exempt.

There is a form that needs to be filled out called a "Request for TCE" (Tribal Certificate of Exemption), which is available in my office. Once this form is completely filled out, I will then issue the RTM the actual Tribal Certificate of Exemption (Tribal Form 3998).

If you plan on purchasing any of these items, please contact me FIRST, and I will be happy to get you the form via e-mail or fax. I am also able to fax the TCEs to the dealership you are doing business with.

Being an RTM will also allow you to be tax exempt on utility bills such as phone, cable, gas, propane, electricity, satellite and cellular service. If you have not filled out a Utility Provider Survey, please contact the DOC, and I will be happy to get

Also, another important thing to remember is if you do move into the Tax Agreement Area (TAA), your RTM status does NOT take effect until the first day of the following month.

Example: I move to Petoskey, MI, (inside the TAA) on September 5, 2010. My RTM (EBD) status begins October 1, 2010. All updates are sent to the State of Michigan as close to the end of the month as pos-

The LTBB Tax Agreement is viewable on the State of Michigan's website at:

http://www.michigan.gov/treasury/0,1607,7-121-1748_23287---

If you have any other questions pertaining to the Tax Agreement, I can reached at my office at 231-242-1584 or via e-mail at tkeshick@ltbbodawa-nsn.gov.

Address Verification Forms Due October 31, 2012

Forms must be mailed to the Enrollment Department at 7500 Odawa Circle, Harbor Springs, MI 49740 or dropped off at the aforementioned address. The Enrollment Department is located on the first floor of the LTBB Governmental Center in Harbor Springs, MI. MEET GRANT WRITER SUE FLORIP

Sue Florip, a member of the Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians (GTB), started as a Grant Writer on July 30, 2012.

She is one of two LTBB grant writers. She has been asked to focus on the areas of Elders, Education, Land and Historical Preservation in terms of pursuing new grants. While working for GTB as a Grant Writer for seven years, she worked with two other grant writers.

"I value my sense of humor best," said Florip, who also worked for GTB in Accounting and Substance Abuse Prevention. "My children have dubbed me a professional beggar because of my profession. But as I see it, I'm only trying to get back a pittance of that which was taken away, both materially and culturally."

Florip was born in Elk Rapids, MI, but spent most of her life in Grand Rapids, MI. She earned an Associate degree in Business from Grand Rapids Junior College and a Bachelor's degree in Liberal Studies from Grand Valley State University. In 2001, she returned to the area to work for her tribe. Prior to accepting her current position, she was living in Northern Michigan because her husband, Larry, is a dealer at Odawa Casino in Petoskey, MI.

"I am proud of my heritage and culture," Florip said. "In both my mother's and father's lineage, a great-grandmother was a medicine woman/midwife. The Bay Mills' Health Clinic is named after my paternal great-grandmother, Ellen Marshall, and my maternal great-grandmother, Zabat Nada, practiced in Elk Rapids. Part of the next generation, my 8-year-old granddaughter, Grace, is a jingle dress dancer. Along with Grace, I have five other grandsons, ranging in age from four to 10 years old, Andrew, Evan, Oren, Nodin and Zongidii. Grandchildren are a blessing."

In addition to her husband and grandchildren, she has six grown children, Liz, David, Patty, Jenny, Kevin, Jr. and Robert.

In her free time, she enjoys reading, making ribbon shirts, playing Scrabble and bingo, and playing Team Trivia with her husband and her friends.

EDUCATION MEET EDUCATION DIRECTOR

LTBB Tribal Citizen Jannan Cotto started as the Education Director on August 6, 2012.

The Gijigowi Bipskaabiimi Department separated into three different departments the Department of the Repatriation, Archives and Records; the Education Department; and the Gijigowi Anishinaabemowin Language Department - when Tribal Council overrode Executive Vetoes WOS 2012-002, WOS 2012-003 and WOS 2012-004 by identical 7-1 votes at the April 22, 2012 Tribal Council meeting.

Prior to the passage of WOS 2010-008 Gijigowi Bibskaabiimi Department on July 14, 2010, three different departments - Archives, Records and Cultural Preservation; the Gijigowi Anishinaabemowin Language Department; and the Education Department existed with three different directors to lead them.

In the current structure, Cotto is the Education Director; Carla Osawamick, a LTBB Tribal Citizen, is the Language Director; and Eric Hemenway is the Archives Director.

The Education Department has K-12 Education Services, Higher Education Services, Cultural Services, WOCTEP (Waganakising Odawa Career and Technical Education Program) and the Cultural Library, which is temporarily closed until a librarian can be hired.

"This is a new beginning in several ways," said Cotto, who grew up in the Chicago, IL, area and graduated from Mundelein High School in Mundelein, IL. "It's a new beginning for the department with the whole restructuring that took place. It's a new season, and we're starting a new school year.

"It's also a new beginning for me because I moved my whole life here."

Prior to accepting her current position, Cotto worked for the American Indian Center of Chicago for five years, four years as the Coordinator of Youth Programs and one year as the Education Director.

She earned a Bachelor's degree in Interdisciplinary Studies with an emphasis on Education and English with a minor in Psychology from Northeastern Illinois University. She plans to pursue her Master's degree in Culture and Cognition from the University of Michigan.

"Overall, I have a passion for contributing to the healing and sovereignty of Native people," Cotto said. "When the opportunity to do that for my own tribe presented itself, it appealed to me. I've been attending a lot of meetings and getting up to speed with everything. I've been doing research, so we can start program planning and working on our early childhood initiative. I'm grateful to have this opportunity and excited to work with the tribal community. I want people to know if they want to share input or have any questions, I am always open to that. I'm happy to talk to anyone. People can contact me by phone at 231-242-1481 or e-mail at jcotto@ltbbodawa-nsn.gov."

Her parents are Jannan Cornstalk, a LTBB Tribal Citizen, and Cristobal Cotto, who is Puerto Rican. Her mother has lived in the Northern Michigan area for the past 10 years and is on the LTBB Natural Resource Commission. Her grandparents are Franklin Cornstalk, a LTBB Tribal Citizen originally from Beaver Island, MI, and Emma Willis, a member of the Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe. She has a sister, Cari Callaghan-Greco, a high school teacher who teaches special education and lives in Prescott, AZ; a brother, Cristobal Motego Cotto; nephews, Luca Greco, 5, and Skyler Cornstalk, 11; a niece, Nevaeh Cotto, 3; and a grey tabby cat named Ralph Pinto.

In her free time, she enjoys singing karaoke, salsa dancing, boxing, doing muay thai and Brazilian Jui Jitsu and has been involved in urban dance since she was 17. Urban dancing is primarily break dancing with some hip hop. She has also been involved in Spirit Daughters, a volunteer group of young Native women leaders and artists who plan and install annual art exhibits. Her paintings and photography have been displayed at the Trickster Gallery, and she is a featured artist at OpenWall, a gallery space which features local artists in Chicago's 47th Ward. She has served as a Community Ambassador for the One Chicago One Nation program, a religious and cultural pluralism program focused on community building.

October 2012 Odawa Trails 🗼

From The Desk of the Tribal Chairman Dexter McNamara

UNITED TRIBES OF MICHIGAN

On the afternoon of August 22, 2012 from 1-3 p.m., a meeting was held in the Great Lakes Conference Room of the Constitution Hall at the State Capitol in Lansing, MI. An invitation was given to General Counsel James Bransky and I as well as other tribal representatives who might be mostly involved with nonferrous mining issues of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

The role I filled that day was to give support to our sister tribe, Keweenaw Bay Indian Community, with a three-minute comment. Bransky and I also listened to both sides. The State of Michigan and the other tribes present were there to hopefully improve communication and collaboration and to develop key recommendations on existing and future environmental impacts associated with mining in Michigan.

GREAT LAKES U.S. ENVIRONMENTAL PROTEC-TION AGENCY (EPA)

Honorable Chairman Cameron Davis, who is the Senior Advisor to the Administrator of the Great Lakes U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, spoke on tribal participation on the Great Lakes Advisory Board and is quite pleased of the tribes' participation in this matter.

FBI COMMUNITY OUTREACH PROGRAM (COP)

The FBI Community Outreach Program was presented by Willie G. Council, an Investigative Operations Analyst, out of Detroit, MI. The mission of Community Outreach Program is to provide comprehensive outreach initiatives to the community through the FBI's established partnerships and school-based programs. The FBI's COP is designed to assist in the reduction of terrorism, crimes against children, drugs, gangs, cybercrimes, identify theft and many more.

NATIONAL INDIAN HEALTH BOARD

DIABETES, DIABETES, what a devastating disease! Together, we will fight this disease for our ancestors, our communities and our future generations. Special Diabetes Programs for Indians (SDPI) President Cathy Abramson stresses the Affordable Care Act fulfills the federal trust relationship and strengthens tribal sovereignty through: 1. Protection of the Indian Health Service (IHS) system; 2. Providing equal access to quality care; and 3. Expansion of tribal governments' role in health care decisions.

R.W.I. (Robert Weaver, Inc.) BENEFITS

A R.W.I presentation was given by David Perrin, who spoke on the availability to tribes on a wholly-owned Native American Insurance Management plan in which there would be a decision and a plan to act on it. Interested tribes should contact his company.

GODFREY AND KAHN WATER QUALITY STANDARDS (WQS)

Protecting and improving water quality on tribal lands is an important goal for many tribes. One critical tool available to tribes is a Tribal Water Quality Standards Program.

WQS Programs allow tribes to directly regulate projects on tribal lands which impact water quality, and just as importantly, take proactive steps to protect against water quality impacts from proposed activities outside the tribe's jurisdiction including dams, mines, power plants, wastewater treatment plants and other projects.

ACTION ITEMS

United Tribes approved a resolution of support for enactment of Michigan Indian Family Preservation Act, which will increase compliance with the Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA) within the state and will better protect Indian nations' interest in promoting the health and welfare of our children.

Also approved was a resolution from United Tribes which advocated and supported the nomination of Kenneth J. Ermatinger for the position of Chairman for the National Tribal Gaming Commissioners/Regulators.

MCLAREN HOSPITAL PANEL

I was asked to sit on a panel with the Health Department of Northwest Michigan's Health Officer Linda Yaroch, the Friendship Centers of Emmet County's Sue Engel, North Central Michigan College President Cameron Brunet-Koch and Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce's Carlin Smith.

The presenter was Belinda Muench from Truven Health Analytics, who hopes to identify opportunities by sharing valuable best practices and offering distinctly useful solutions which hopefully define the path to success.

There was comprehensive information. The panel was to give input and uncover and navigate new avenues for improvement and to basically, give input on what we thought we needed for additional services in this area.

CHIPPEWA OTTAWA RESOURCE AUTHORITY (CORA) MEETING

The CORA meeting was hosted by the Grand Traverse Band of the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians at the Grand Traverse Resort in Acme, MI.

The following was the discussion/overview of the Executive Council agenda items:

- 1. Lake Trout in Grand Traverse Bay
- 2. Increase Walleye By Catch Limit
- 3. Jurisdiction
- 4. Inland Fishing
- 5. Sturgeon
- 6. Recreation Passport
- 7. Tribal Treaty Rights
- 8. Bald Eagle Feather Parts Use and Possession
- 9. Wildlife Management Consultation

CORA EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MEETING

This meeting was basically a continuation from the original CORA meeting, but CORA met with federal and state governments with the issues I had listed above. These joint meetings are held yearly.

We learned at this meeting that on August 14, 2012 legislative efforts began to allow wolves to be hunted in Michigan with a bill introduced by State Representative Matt Huuki, R-Atlantic Mine - an idea supported by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Huuki's bill (H.B. 5834) was referred to the committee on the Natural Resources, Tourism and Outdoor Recreation.

LTBB Natural Resources Commissioners and the Natural Resource Director have submitted a resolution in opposition to the sport hunting of Ma' ingan, Gray Wolf which states in part:

"WHEREAS; Hunting of Gray Wolves is generally not considered and lacks scientific evidence to be an effective method or tool for addressing or reducing wolf/human conflict and may increase conflict; and "WHEREAS" there is a lack of scientific research or evidence ensuring that socially complex pack animals such as Gray Wolves are capable of being hunted in sustainable manner."

INDIAN TREATY OF 1836

I traveled to the Charlevoix Library in Charlevoix, MI, to listen to Dr. Charles Cleland present a program on the historical events surrounding the negotiation of the Treaty of 1836 between the Odawa and Ojibwe people and the United States of America. Cleland discussed the details of the treaty bargain as well as the many stipulations and controversies which have persisted into the modern era. Several Odawa Tribal Citizens were in attendance.

NORTH CENTRAL MICHIGAN COLLEGE

I attended a ribbon cutting ceremony on August 29, 2012 at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey, MI, for its new $10.5 million Health and Science Center after more than a decade of fundraising for the project. The 23,300 square foot Jack and Dorothy Harris Center will house classrooms, laboratories and faculty office space for 15 science classes this fall. It was another great day for Northern Michigan.

DECLARATION

A declaration is a formal written public statement in support or opposition of an issue or matter. The declaration presented by the LTBB Tribal Council is a statement in support of reaffirmation of the Burt Lake Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians, and the Executive of the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians acknowledges and supports this declaration.

911 SPRING STREET

For those of you who are not aware, there are departments now located at 911 Spring St. in Petoskey, MI, which was at one time the old State of Michigan Unemployment Office. Construction began on this building in June 2012. Included in this move was the Human Services Department which has vacated the 915 Emmet St. Building in Petoskey, MI, and is now working out of the 911 Spring Street site. The Tribal Prosecutor's Office, the Tribal Court and Law Enforcement are all now located at the 911 Spring Street site; they were all previously located at the LTBB Governmental Center in Harbor Springs, MI.

CHAIRMAN'S OFFICE

Beginning Wednesday, October 10, 2012, the Chairman, Vice Chair and the Tribal Administrator will be in the Chairman's office from 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. to answer any questions the tribal citizens might have. These questions and answer sessions will be held on every other Wednesday following Tribal Council weekend.

ELDER HOUSING UNITS

After a long delay of back orders from our contractors, the air condition units have finally began to be put into place.

TRIBAL COUNCIL MEETING OF AUGUST 19, 2012

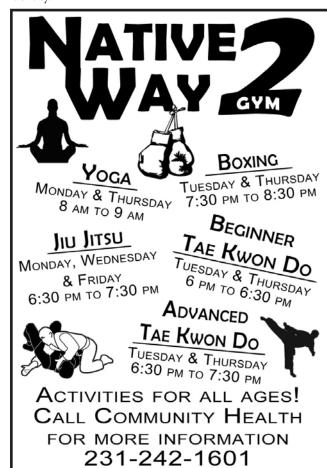

Draft Minutes August 19, 2012 page 7 of 8, ——— Motion made by Councilor Keshick and supported by Councilor Gasco to pass Wagnanakising Odawak Statute Amendment to Waganakising Odawak Statute 2006-016 Wetlands Protection and Management.....Motion Carried 6 Yes 3 No.

Tribal citizens, I urge you to call the Legislative Office or call your Councilors and ask them directly what this statute means.

During the course of this meeting, I was giving my Tribal Chairman report to Tribal Council in which I was deeply humiliated by their actions and shown criticism of my report in an unprofessional way. There was uncalled for heckling, side bar snickering gestures and all of this by Tribal Council and the Legislative Attorney. I immediately informed Tribal Council and its Legislative Attorney of their unnecessary actions, picked up my written reports and left the meeting in which I never came back. I feel I present my reports in a manner in which tribal citizens who are present will understand.

I will attend special and scheduled work sessions and, if invited, closed sessions at Tribal Council meetings. Our Constitution requires I submit a monthly written report, and that is exactly what I will be doing. I will not be humiliated again by this or any other Tribal Council. They were wrong, and I had three Councilors tell me they were wrong with one of them coming into my office and apologizing. I will not attend another Tribal Council meeting. I am so sorry to have to report this.

MIGWECH, speak the language and follow our traditions and cultural values to preserve our strong unified tribal identity.

our discussion about questions we have received from tribal citizens regarding our tribal constitution. This article addresses the role of the Tribal Court.

Tribal Court

Prior to the new constitution adopted in February 2005, we did not have separation of powers. We had a one-unit government, the Tribal Council, and the Tribal Court was under the Tribal Council.

a separate branch of government.

With the new constitution, the Judiciary is

The Judiciary is comprised of a lower court referred to as "Tribal Court," and a superior court referred to as the "Appellate Court." The Tribal Court has a Chief Judge and an Associate Judge. The Appellate Court has three members. One of the members of the Appellate Court must be an attorney, and one of the members must be an elder. The terms of office for the Tribal Court Judges are four years, and the terms of office for the Appellate Court Justices are six years.

The Judiciary is independent from both the Executive and the Legislative. This allows for separate of powers. One of the ways the Judiciary is independent is the rulings of the Appellate Court are final and binding. This means if an individual is dissatisfied by the Appellate Court ruling, he or she cannot appeal the decision to Tribal Council or the Executive. Also, judges can only be removed by the Judiciary itself; neither Tribal Council nor the Chair can remove a judge during his or her term of office.

We also have checks to create a balance between the branches. The Chair nominates the judges for both the Tribal Court and the Appellate Court, and Tribal Council votes on the nomination. The nomination requires approval by Tribal Council of six out of nine in support of the nomination. The process of having the Chair nominate and the Tribal Council confirm or deny the appointment ensure neither branch has influence over the Judiciary. Similarly, the Judiciary submits its budget directly to Tribal Council; this prevents the Chair from having an influence over the Judiciary's budget and keeps the separation of power.

This is just a brief overview of the Tribal Court. You may find more information at the LTBB website, including court rules, court opinions and many other court-related items.

If you have additional questions, please feel free to contact the Tribal Council office at 1-866-927-0077 or attend a Tribal Council meeting. The calendar of meetings is in the Odawa Trails newsletters as well as our website at http://www.ltbbodawa-nsn.gov.

LTBB TRIBAL CITIZENS TO STAR IN UPCOMING HISTORICAL MOVIE FOR MACKINAC STATE HISTORIC PARKS

By Eric Hemenway, Archives, Records and Repatriation

June 2, 2013 marks the 250th anniversary of the attack on Fort Michilimackinac in Mackinac City, MI.

In the summer and fall of 1763, an Odawa war chief from Maumee River near Toledo, Ohio, by the name of Pontiac, led one of the most successful resistance efforts to European incursion onto Indian lands in North American history. The Anishnaabek and other Great Lakes tribes had just fought the British in the Seven Years War or more commonly known today as the French and Indian War (the Indians predominately sided with the French). The French surrendered to the British, but the Anishnaabek never agreed to give up their lands to the British upon the conclusion of the war. The Great Lakes tribal nations were not going to have their ancestral homelands be divided up and distributed by foreign entities across the Atlantic Ocean.

During this historic year, Pontiac and a host of other chiefs and tribes nearly drove the British completely out of the Great Lakes, taking nine of 13 British occupied forts. These forts range from Wisconsin to Michigan to New York. Well known areas such as Detroit, Pittsburgh and Mackinac were all host to Pontiac's war. Some forts fell very easily, some not at all. Detroit and Pittsburgh were the critical forts which never were seized, allowing supplies to continue on to British troops. During the siege of Fort Pitt, the British General Jeffery Amherst authorized the distribution of small-pox infected blankets to warriors seeking to meet and discuss the war. The warriors, unknowingly, took the blankets as gestures of goodwill, and the disease had devastating effects on the warriors' villages. The British resorted to desperate and horrible measures in their efforts to repel the Indian warriors. Not discouraged, the various groups of warriors took the other forts, sometimes, by force or by trickery. Fort Michilimackinac was one fort which was taken by means of a ruse which has gone down in history as possibly one of the most famous games of lacrosse on record.

On June 2, 1763, a large group of Anishnaabek warriors gathered outside Fort Michilimackinac to play a game of bagatiway, commonly known today as lacrosse. The game was spectated by a large number of women along the wall of the fort, all covered in blankets. The men started the day with a spirited game of bagatiway with the British soldiers all watching and taking in the game. Bagatiway was a notoriously rough game where it was common for players to sustain serious injuries or even die during the course of the game. Fort Michilimackinac was one of the most strategic locations in all the Great Lakes as well as one of the most fortified.

During the course of the game, the bagatiway ball was tossed towards the entrance of the fort. The unsuspecting British soldiers watched as the warriors ran past the women in pursuit of the ball. As the warriors passed the women, the women quickly handed the warriors knives and clubs which they had concealed under their blankets. Within a matter of minutes, the warriors used the element of surprise and skill to take the fort without the use of any firearms. Seventeen British soldiers were put to death while the French occupants of the fort were unharmed. No women or children were at-

Many of us have visited the fort at the Straits of Mackinac or driven past it upon returning from the Upper Peninsula. It is a site which is well known and within traditional Odawa territory. The historical significance of that particular area covers many events over a wide time period. The attack on the fort in 1763 signifies the Anishnaabek defending their homelands and their interests in the Great Lakes. Pontiac's war was one of the greatest acts of resistance to European invasion of indigenous lands in North America. Without the aid of any French, Spanish or other foreign powers, the Great Lakes nations were successful, for a short time, in defending their homelands.

The success the Anishnaabek and other Great Lakes tribes quickly vanished. The forts the warriors took were abandoned due to the fact the warriors had to return home to hunt for their families for the upcoming winter months. Old, intertribal conflicts began to arise and differences among bands of warriors led to various groups leaving the battles. And lastly, without support from some European power, the supplies the Anishnaabek took would eventually run out and more would be needed. The British began efforts to retake the forts and eventually, a peace treaty was made between the British and various tribes, including Pontiac signed the treaty. The old intertribal conflicts would come back to haunt Pontiac. He was stabbed to death by a Perioa Indian, who accused Pontiac of killing one of his relations

Fast forward 249 years to 2012. Mackinac State Historic Parks, in its efforts to accurately tell the story of the attack on the fort in 1763, has committed to making a short historic movie telling the story of this historic event at the fort. In working with the Mackinac State Parks on previous historical projects, the Archives, Records and Repatriation Department of LTBB Odawa was asked to assist in making the movie. The Mackinac State Parks asked if the Archives Department could gather Anishnaabek to portray their ancestors who were there in 1763.

More than 20 LTBB Tribal Citizens, women and men, spent two days, August 26-27, 2012, being filmed in various scenes depicting June 2, 1763. The scenes include the bagatiway game, the women handing the men the weapons, the attack and various others. This short movie will be part of a new, permanent exhibit at the fort which will be focused on Pontiac's war. The new exhibit opens next year on June 2, 2013, exactly on the 250th anniversary. Please come and help celebrate this important date in Anishnaabek history.

News from the Health Department

Submitted by the Health Department

The Health Department has updated and improved our information on the LTBB website. There is more information about the various programs within the Health Department and printable pamphlets. There are also helpful links to additional information as well as the availability of paperwork needed for services.

The Health Department welcomed a new face to the Health Clinic, Jennifer Yuhn. Jennifer is the new Clinical Clerical Technician, and she has been orienting to the very busy front desk of the Health Clinic. We also saw the promotion of Marcia Sutton as the Contract Health Specialist, and Chris Peariso as the Billing Specialist. Welcome to Jennifer, and congratulations to Marcia and Chris!

With the return of fall, comes the return of the cold and flu season. While it is not possible to avoid all germs, there are ways to reduce your risk of infection which includes eating a nutritious diet, maintaining a healthy lifestyle, staying germ free by washing your hands frequently throughout the day and receiving a vaccination against seasonal influenza. Stay tuned for updates on the availability of the seasonal influenza vaccine at the Health Clinic as well as upcoming flu shot clinics.

You will be seeing a lot of pink this month as October is Breast Cancer Awareness month. The month is dedicated to increasing awareness about the importance of the early detection of breast cancer through a nationwide campaign. The last two decades have seen large increases in both incidence and mortality rates for American Indian and Alaskan Native women. The following is the American Cancer Society's recommendations for early breast cancer starting in their 20s.

Women in their 20s and 30s should have a clinical breast exam (CBE) as part of a periodic (regular) health exam by a health professional preferably every 3 years.

Starting at age 40, women should have a CBE by a health professional every year.

Women age 40 and older should have a mammogram every year and should continue to do so for as long as they are in good health.

The end of the month brings us Halloween, so don't forget to check treats for signs of tampering before children are allowed to eat them. Candy should be thrown away if the wrapper is faded or torn or if the candy is unwrapped Drive carefully, and watch out for all the little ghosts and ghouls who are out!

POTENTIALLY STICKY SITUATION

Submitted by the Health Department

A swarm of bees attempted to make the Health Department overhang its new home on August 28, 2012.

However, there was a happy resolution to the situation. Academic Tutor Alison Simon, who works in the Education Department, told her father, who had recently taken up beekeeping as a hobby, about it.

He and Alison went to the Health Park in Petoskey, MI, after work that day and put the majority of the bees in a box which was to be their new hive. We hope the bees will be happy in their new home and produce lots of honey!

It was fascinating to watch (from afar of course!)!

Miigwetch to Billy McNamara for coordinating the effort and helping out.

LTBB Finishes Second in Tribe 2 Tribe Walking Challenge

By Regina Brubacker-Carver, Health Educator

On August 22, 2012, LTBB participants in the 2012 Tribe 2 Tribe Walking Challenge met for a reception and awards ceremony at the LTBB Governmental Center Commons Area in Harbor Springs, MI.

Awards were presented in terms of the miles each participant walked with special recognition being given to the oldest (Arlene Naganashe, 73) and the youngest (Becca Lynn, 18) walkers, and those people who assisted LTBB in its second place win in spite of injuries, illnesses and surgeries. Forty percent of the walkers in the top 10% of the challenge were with LTBB, more than any other participating Lynne Harvey, Blue Cross representative for the tribe, attended the event and announced Blue Cross would be honoring our efforts with pocket lanyards for all participants.

The results of the 2012 Tribe 2 Tribe Walking Challenge were announced at the Michigan Indian Family Olympics held July 27, 2012 in Mt. Pleasant, MI. Health Educator Regina Brubacker-Carver represented LTBB there and accepted the symbolic $1,500 check on behalf of LTBB. The funds from Blue Cross were used to purchase incentive awards for those who participated in the Tribe 2 Tribe Challenge as well as a few prizes for the Community Walking Challenge.

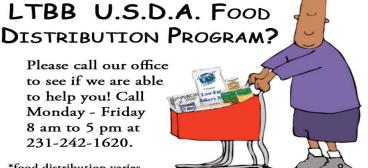

When the competition was initiated, all LTBB participants agreed to have basic health data collected both before and after the challenge (with the understanding all data would be kept strictly confidential and not be associated with any identifying information), and the results were as follows: 28% lost at least one half pound, and one person lost 20; 36% lowered either their systolic or diastolic blood pressure by more than a few mmhg (millimeters of mercury); and 46% lost at least one half inch around their waist. In addition to data collection, everyone set one physical activity goal and one nutrition goal to work on throughout the challenge, and almost 100% of participants met or exceeded one or both of their goals.

Many of our departments had multiple staff members competing, but far and away, the standout team was WOCTEP, which had 100% participation. Their total accumulative mileage for the competition well exceeded 2,900, which means had they been a tribe competing in the challenge, their average mileage per person would have been approximately 580, and they would have blown away the entire competition.

WOCTEP also had the honor of having the top walker in the challenge in their midst; Sean Kutzler, WOCTEP Curriculum Specialist General Studies, logged more than 980 miles in nine weeks, which put him solo in the 900 Mile Club. Mike McCreery, a Conservation Officer in the Natural Resource Department, was solo in the 800 Mile Club, and the rumor is he was so determined to get more than 800 miles that he biked almost 30 miles to work the last day of the challenge. Kristina Dominic and Amber Holt made up the 600 Mile Club, and Marcella Reyes and Joe Van Alstine made up the 500 Mile Club. The 400 Mile Club was less exclusive with Daniel Hinmon, Regina Brubacker-Carver, Billy McNamara, Marlene Gasco, Melissa Wiatrolik, Brian Williams and Dorothy Perry as members. Kathryn McGraw, Sara Lucier, Kristy Dayson, Becca Lynn and Cathy Gibson made up the 300 Mile Club. The 200 Mile Club consisted of Carol Kiogima, Amanda Swiss, Jen Wilson, Theresa Keshick, Jamie Gothro, Angie Woodin, Kim Gabrick, Patrick Boda, Caren Kay, Cheryl Kishigo-Lesky and Doug Craven. The largest group is the 100 Mile Club with Angela Friend, Matt Lesky, Stella Kay, Mandy Szocinski, Carla Osawamick, Allie Maldonado, Vicki Kelley, Rebecca Atkinson, Tina Shawano, Tammy Okuly, Chris Peariso, Debra Smithkey-Browne, Arlene Naganashe, Deleta Smith and Denise Petoskey all logging respectable step counts. Honorable mention goes to Trista Paone, Mary Gasco, Michael Smith and Veronica Sanders for completing the challenge.

HACCP consists of dentifying potential safety hazards, determining where they might occur, monitoring these points and recording the results. The mandatory regulation is based on the belief that every commercial fish processor can understand potential food safety hazards of their products and take reasonable steps to avoid them. New School Year Safety Tips, ATTENDANCE AND ASSISTANCE

By Matthew Lesky, LTBB for them to stay engaged in learn-Tribal Prosecutor Aanii Tribal Community.

As we enter the fall season in Odawa country, a new school year is upon us. As our children return to the classroom and get back into the swing of learning, we should stop and reflect on the important role we as parents play in the success of our children's education. As parents, it is our responsibility to ensure our child meets each school day prepared and ready to learn. What can we do to help them do their best?

Make sure your child is getting enough sleep. Children should get at least eight hours of sleep each night. Children who do not get enough sleep often have difficulty being alert throughout the day, which makes it difficult

Make sure your child eats a well-balanced diet. Having breakfast in the morning allows your child to be energized, focused and ready to learn.

Set aside time each night for your child to do his or her homework. Children who regularly do their homework do better on tests and better understand the material they are learning in class.

Make sure your child gets to school on time and regularly attends school. The tribe's law requires school age children attend school, and that they are not excessively absent or tardy. If you are concerned about the number of absences or tardies that your child has, contact your child's school counselor or attendance officer. Working with the school can often resolve issues involving excessive absenteeism or tardiness.

Eat dinner as a family. Eating meals like dinner as a family improves communication within the family and has been shown to improve children's academic performance.

If you feel like your child needs academic assistance or services, please contact the LTBB Education Department 231-242-1480.

Accompanied by Elders Program Assistant Kathy McGraw and Elders Program Drivers Richard Snake and Gordon "Flash" Shepard, more than 20 LTBB Elders and their spouses visited the University of Michigan Biological Station (UMBS) in Pellston, MI, on August 22, 2012.

The trip, sponsored by the Elders Program, began with UMBS Executive Director Knute Nadelhoffer welcoming the group, which also included Youth Services Coordinator Kristy Dayson, Youth Assistant Barry Bott, tribal youth, Wetlands Specialist Jackie Pilette and Communications Coordinator Annette VanDeCar.

It was immediately followed by UMBS Assistant Research Scientist Luke Nave's presentation about UMBS. The group ate lunch in the UMBS cafeteria before embarking on a short hike on the Grapevine Nature Trail and concluded the day by posing for a group photo in front of Douglas Lake.

UMBS was founded in 1909, and it is a protected natural area for research and Several U of M classes and research projects, minicourses which last three to five days and are field based courses open to the public, a summer lecture series, an environmental film series, a winter research meeting and a ski weekend are some of the events held at UMBS.

Coincidentally, middle school students from Michigan's Native American tribes were also at UMBS that day attending the weeklong Camp KinoMaage. The camp, held August 20-24, 2012, involves students staying at UMBS to learn science from UMBS staff and faculty, Native American culture from local tribal elders and Ojibwe language from faculty and students in the U of M Native American Studies Program.

Several LTBB Elders and their spouses said even though UMBS was right in their backyard, it was their first trip there, and they were grateful for the opportunity to learn about this unique place.

According to the Constitution and By-Laws of the National UNITY Council, the mission of the National UNITY Council is to represent the UNITY Network so that common concerns are studied and addressed with a positive and unified voice. This will be accomplished through national meetings and projects that develop the leadership skills of Native youth by drawing upon their Native heritage and teachings. Further, the National Council will provide a means through which Native youth may learn how to effectively work together and address issues of concern in an environment that encourages them to interact in a dignified manner that respects and honors all.

"As the Mid-West Area Representative, I stay in contact with the other UNITY Councils in the Mid-West Area and recruit new groups," Schilling said. "I have monthly conference calls with the other councils, and I report what I've done. Before the Michigan Indian Family Olympics (held July 27, 2012 in Mt. Pleasant, MI), we had several UNITY Youth Councils come together, and we brainstormed on how to work together and to network. Some of our ideas were to have a UNITY Pow Wow and to have positive sober parties together. We also shared fundraising

Her mother, Audrey Atkinson, a LTBB Tribal Citizen, owns Mishiikhen Studio in Alanson, MI, with Virgina Lewis, a LTBB

"She has improved a lot over the years," Eva said. "She does a lot more footwork now that she's older. Her posture is better. She knows how to do the Crow Hop and Double Beat now. At the big pow wows, there are two contest songs, and they're usually a straight song and a Crow Hop or a Crow Hop and a Double Beat."

Eva's cousin, Winnay Wemigwase, a LTBB Tribal Citizen, taught Eva how to make dance regalia. Eva, who was a fancy dancer, made her first dance regalia when she was 13 with Wemigwase. Eva makes all of Alexa's dance regalia.

"I think of all the designs for her regalia," Eva said. "I stick to geometric shapes, squares, horses and teepees. It's the style most of the Western tribes use for their regalia. She loves horses, so I tend to use them a lot in the designs."

When she gets older, Alexa wants to be Miss Odawa Nation and Junior Miss Arapaho. Alexa has three years before she can compete for Miss Odawa "I look up to them," Alexa said. "I want to represent my tribes and be a role model for younger generations."

Alexa's whole family dances. Her mother, Eva, danced fancy; her brother, Alonzo, dances traditional; her grandmother, the late Shirley Naganashe-Oldman, danced traditional; her grandfather, Steve Oldman, Sr., danced traditional; her uncles, Jason, Steve, Jr. and Jesse, all danced grass; and her uncle, Greg, danced fancy. Her uncles, Jason and Jessie, still dance, and all of her uncles, drummed. Alexa is learning to sing backup with drums. "I danced until I was 20, and I'll eventually, get back to doing it," Eva said. "I stay busy with them (her children, Alonzo and Alexa) and with making their regalia. When I danced, I enjoyed being around other Native Americans and socializing. I have great memories of traveling to pow wows with my family and dancing with my family."

Alexa is a sixth-grader at Harbor Springs Middle School in Harbor Springs, MI, and she moved back to the area two years ago with her family. She participates in Girls on the Run, plays basketball, competes in 5K runs and plans on playing soccer and volleyball this year. She enjoys Math, Social Studies and Language Arts (reading and writing). Her favorite books are "So Be It" and "Criss Cross" by Lynne Rae Perkins. After graduating from high school, she wants to attend the University of Michigan and become a pediatrician.

"I want to help kids who are sick and make them feel better," Alexa said.

Alexa has wanted to be a pediatrician since she was seven or eight years old.

"She enjoys being around kids and babies," Eva said. "She enjoys caring for them."

Her mother, Eva, graduated from Harbor Springs High School and earned Associate degrees in Graphic Design and Web Design from Kalamazoo Community College. She is currently employed as the Graphic Designer for the Phone Guide. Her brother, Alonzo, is a freshman at Harbor Springs High School. She has a dog named Buster. The goal behind WOCTEP is to assist students in obtaining specialized skills necessary for in-demand career fields. To do this, WOCTEP students register early for their classes, helping ensure they are getting the classes they need to graduate. WOCTEP students can also qualify for financial assistance in the forms of student stipend, mileage assistance and child care assistance.

WOCTEP staff also help students with cover letter and resume' writing as well as keeping an eye out for jobs within their career

Explains Tina Dominic, "Seeing jobs are out there they're qualified for encourages students because they see there is a light at the end of the tunnel."

WOCTEP is very excited about the fact it now aids students in paying the NCMC Graduation Audit fee.

"Removing barriers to employment is one our most important goals," Amber Holt explains. "Receiving their North Central Michigan College certificate is a vital step in a student's path toward employment as many employers want to see official transcripts."

"We are a team, and work toward our common goal of helping students," Sean Kutzler says. "What it really boils down to is helping the community, and I think through WOCTEP, we truly are."

To date, WOCTEP has had 311 enrollments in the program, 123 certificate completions and 188 placements into continuing education or finding/retaining employment. For the community, this is a great because it means there is demand in these career fields, and WOCTEP is helping meet this demand.

The WOCTEP media lab, located on the first floor of the LTBB Governmental Center in Harbor Springs, MI, is host to several NCMC courses, including Photoshop, Audio-Video and Entrepreneurship Essentials. The lab is also open to the community to utilize.

"Our lab is a great resource to the community," Dan Hinmon elaborates. "We're here to help whether you need to work on your homework, update your resume' and job search or research on the Internet."

Miigwech for letting WOCTEP serve the community for five years, we only anticipate great things in year six.

For any information on WOCTEP or its certificate programs, please visit our NEW Facebook page "WOCTEP" or contact us directly at 231-242-1494.

MICHIGAN SUPREME COURT ORDERS CASINO EXPANSION PROPOSAL OFF THE BALLOT

Editor's note: The following is a Protect MI Vote press release dated September 5, 2012.

The Michigan Supreme Court today (September 5, 2012) ordered off the ballot a proposal that would have locked eight new casinos into Michigan's consti-

Protect MI Vote spokesperson John Truscott issued the following statement in reaction to the deci-

"Voters owe the Michigan Supreme Court their thanks today for not rolling the dice with Michigan's future. We have said all along that this proposal was poorly written and a terrible piece of public policy for the state. Thankfully, the court recognized that as well. We hope this day is remembered the next time a group of secretive investors attempt to guarantee casino and liquor licenses in our constitution."

In addition to adding eight new casinos to Michigan's constitution, the ballot proposal would have eliminated the requirement for a statewide and local vote on future casino gaming expansions. The proposal also attempted to bypass state liquor laws by granting automatic liquor licenses to casino properties without approval from the Liquor Control Commis-

NATIVE VOTE LAUNCHES NATIONAL GRASSROOTS Media Campaign "Every Native Vote Counts"

Editor's note: The following is a National Congress of American Indians press release dated September 4, 2012.

The National Congress of American Indians (NCAI) launched a national grassroots media campaign today (September 4, 2012) alongside leading national Native media organizations to encourage Native people to register to vote and participate in the 2012 national election. The new campaign titled "Every Native Vote Counts" is part of the organization's ongoing non-partisan voter outreach effort, Native Vote. With a goal of turning out the largest Native vote in history in 2012, NCAI reached out to members of the media to participate in the campaign and hopes these critical partners are joined by many more in the coming weeks.

"Turning out the largest Native vote in history requires all of Indian country working together, and the Native media will play a critical role in reaching our goal. These Native media partners are volunteering the air waves – radio and television, the print media, and the web to send Indian country an important message, 'Every Native Vote Counts," said Jefferson Keel, President of NCAI, the nation's oldest, largest and most representative American Indian and Alaska Native advocacy organization. "We are excited that so many Native media outlets have stepped forward to support this national effort. This message should be part of every community gathering between now and November 6, 2012."

Native Vote has produced more than a dozen Public Service Announcements (PSAs) available in video and audio for download, broadcast and online sharing available at NativeVote.org. Additionally, there are a range of materials which can be printed and distributed in communities. The PSA videos and radio spots feature messages from tribal citizens, mothers and fathers, veterans, elders, tribal leaders, celebrities and athletes.

The national grassroots media campaign is also helping to register Native voters online. Participating websites will provide voters with the ability to register using Native Vote's partner tools. Through a new partnership with Turbo Vote, Native Vote is making it easy for voters to register to vote online at http://nativevote.turbovote.org - a tool which makes registering to vote as easy as ordering a DVD from Netflix. Turbo Vote delivers voter registration materials to an individual's home with a prestamped envelope.

Native vote has partnered with the following national Native media organizations and companies to promote civic participation and voter registration among Native people. Initial Native media partners participating in the "Every Native Vote Counts" campaign include:

First Nations Experience FNX Television; member of the World Indigenous Broadcast Network - broadcast of video PSAs, social media promotion and online voter registration;

Kohanic Broadcast Corporation; airing radio PSA's across a variety of nationally broadcast radio shows, online voter registration and social media promotion;

Native American Public Telecommunications; video PSA distribution to public television stations and social media promo-

He moved to Detroit, MI, to work in an automotive factory before moving to Chicago, IL, and worked as a lumber handler. She was a member of the Little Traverse Bay Bands of Odawa Indians. Carol was a very spiritual person, and one of the ways she gave back was through tarot readings. She loved going for long drives to see all the beautiful sceneries or just to have quality time to talk with her children while driving. She loved long walks to explore nature with her grandchildren, beading and spending time with family and friends. Carol was an amazing artist with her sketches along with her bead work. She was the type of person who would give and help anyone in need. Those who walked on before her include her father, Elmer Keshick, and her brother, Elmer Behrens. Carol is survived by her life partner, Joe Fischl; her children, Leia Thompson and fiance', Wayne Vanderhoof, Cory Toornman and significant other, Jennifer Hampton, and Hattie Fischl; her four grandchildren, Olivia Toorman, Alexis Toorman, Declen Thompson and Marlee Fischl; her close friends, Kim Hines, Fred Kiogima, Sherry Shananaquet; and many other family members and friends.
